SMART TRANSPORTATION SOLUTIONS

This year, e-commerce businesses have become highly popular and they will most likely continue to be successful. Warehouse fulfillment and logistics may experience a surge in demand during this holiday season. In-store shopping may require better visual communication and queuing systems with a limited number of customers allowed in each store at a time due to social distancing.

Our standard products are purpose-built to serve smart retail applications and help meet these incremental demands. They include the flexible Intel® SDMs, advanced interactive touch computers and high quality OPS players. In addition, we have evolved to become a one-stop shop for custom-made solutions, i.e. self-service kiosks, quick service restaurant smart menu boards and more.
